Clean Up Week May 24 To 31 Free Pick-Up

Clean-Up week in Newmarket is May 24 to 31. Sponsored by the Newmarket Horticultural society as a part of its civic improvement program, Clean-Up week is planned as an added incentive to all property owners within the town to improve the appearance of their grounds.

Special pick-ups of garden refuse and trash will be held on the east side of town on Wednesday, May 28, and on the west side of Newmarket on Thursday, May 29. Pick-ups will begin at 6.45 p.m.

General convener is Nelson Garrett who has made arrangements for the use of the regular garbage van and an open truck for brush. Members of the society will man the trucks. Volunteers are requested to contact Nels Garrett, 368-w, to offer their services.

Anyone having brush, tree stumps or such material is requested to contact Mr. Garrett so that individual collections may be made with the open truck. The open truck will only call where such requests have been made.

Residents should have their garden refuse neatly piled at the curb for the pick-ups with no iron or other metal in the collection which might clog the machinery of the van.

ACCORDION BAND TO GIVE CONCERT

A concert by a band of over 100 accordions will be given in the Newmarket Memorial Arena on Friday, June 20, under the sponsorship of the Newmarket Lions club. The band, made up of students from the Munding Accordion Academy, includes two Newmarket boys, Wayne Wench and John Giovannelli.

The program will include selections of classical music as well as modern. In recent concerts, the band has been widely praised by the music critics, one likening the tone of the band to a rich, deep organ.

PRESENT FILM

The Newmarket Youth for Christ is sponsoring a film "Mr. Texas", produced by Billy Graham, at the Newmarket arena on Thursday, May 29.

'HATCHET HAPPY BOYS RUIN TREES'

Alan Balman, 4, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Balman, Leaside, shakes hands with Chief Big White Owl at Mount Albert Sunday after a tree planting ceremony. The planting marked the opening of the Don Valley Conservation Association's "plant a tree week". The association conducted a tour of the valley by train on Sunday with destination Mount Albert.

Mount Albert Visited By Chief, Nearly 1,000 Conservationists

A 15-car train filled with nearly 1,000 Don Valley Conservation Association members and friends from Toronto made a "conservation tour" on Sunday which took them to Richmond Hill and Mount Albert.

Chief Big White Owl of the Delaware tribe assisted in planting a walnut tree on a knoll near Mount Albert railway station. The tour opened the association's "plant a tree week". While giving a talk on conservation, the chief said that "hatchet-happy" little boys destroy trees their parents have neglected to teach them to respect.

Chief Big White Owl travelled from New York state for the event and was dressed in traditional chieftan's costume. Reeve Harry Simpson of East York and other officials took part in the tree planting ceremony.

The chief's other name is Jasper Hill, associate editor of a publication called the Native Voice. He said that Toronto is the city of culture of Canada yet there are thousands of Torontonians who don't know the difference between a maple and an elm.

A pipe band and a brass band paraded at Mount Albert park where a concert was held.

COMMITTEE SPLIT OVER DECISION ON POLICE SALARIES

A request for salary increases from the Newmarket police department, soon to be before council, is expected to bring out considerable differences of opinion, Councillor Lorne Paynter, who is chairman of the police committee gave a committee report Monday night and said that the whole council would have to consider the committee problem.

As chairman, he said he was strongly opposed to granting the increases. The other two members, Mrs. V. R. MacNaughton and Charles Boyd have indicated that the increase might better be granted because the police could go to a board of arbitration and justify even higher increases to bring them in line with the city and other municipal departments.

Mr. Paynter said that the committee's position warrants the consideration of the whole council.

The increase would put the chief of police salary up to $4,420 including car allowance; deputy-chief $3,720 including car allowance and constables $3,000, according to Mr. Paynter.

GOVERNOR-GENERAL INSPECTS CADETS

Canada's governor-general, Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey, inspected the St. Andrew's cadet corps at the school on Friday. Mr. Massey had been commanding officer of the corps when it was first formed in the early 1900's.

One hundred and seventy cadets, in scarlet tunics and wearing kilts in the Gordon tartan of dark green with a yellow check, paraded before the governor-general and 2,000 proud parents and friends to the spirited piping of the cadet pipe band.

The corps is affiliated with the 48th Highlanders and its record is one of the most impressive in Canada.

Mr. Massey presented trophies to Cadet Private Peter Oechsle, as the best cadet; to Cadet Lieutenant Don Paterson, for the best platoon; and Cadet Major Chuck H. Macdonald, best gymnast.

GRADE 8 PUPILS, PARENTS, H.S. GUESTS

Newmarket's grade eight pupils and their parents will be the guests of the Newmarket Home and School association at an evening to be held in the high school on Friday, May 23, at 8 p.m. This is an annual event sponsored by the association for the entrance class, their mothers and fathers.

A varied program including instrumental and vocal selections has been arranged. J. W. Lockhart, principal of the Newmarket-Sutton Area high school, will address the group. In his talk, Mr. Lockhart will outline the courses available to the boys and girls. Members of the grade nine class will model clothes they made during the year in their home economics course. Light refreshments will be served.

The children are pupils of Mrs. Charles Gordon who will be staging a new performance in the Newmarket Town Hall May 31.

Mrs. Gordon has devoted most of her spare time instructing children, as a community gift. With Mrs. Gordon Downward, she presented a dance recital in the town hall recently.

The recital May 31 will have new members, a variation of the first recital. Mrs. Gordon's recital is being presented to raise money for the Newmarket Branch of the Canadian Legion. During the year the Legion hall has been used for the community dancing classes and funds from the recital will help compensate the Legion.

Also at the Roxby theater will be a boat and motor show by the Legion. It is to hold a draw in August for a boat, motor and trailer.

BUSINESS-PROFESSIONAL WOMEN FURNISH HOSPITAL ROOM

One of their projects of the year, the furnishing of a room at York County hospital, the Business and Professional Women's club of Newmarket has established a fine record of service to the community. After inspecting the newly furnished room at the hospital, shown above are Mrs. H. M. Hooker, Norine Ayers, president of the B and P. club, Miss L. Thomas, hospital superintendent and Frank Courtney, secretary of the hospital board.

'JOE' SPEAKS AT OLD BOYS' DINNER

Former headmaster of Pickering College, Joseph McCulley, left, chats at banquet table with Harry Pence, president of the Pickering College Old Boys' Association which held an anniversary reunion at the school over the past weekend. Mr. McCulley, now deputy-commissioner of penal reform, was headmaster for 20 years. Speaking to more than 100 old boys at a banquet Saturday, he recalled his first experiences as headmaster when the school was re-opened at Newmarket 25 years ago and brought back many humorous incidents in student life at Pickering.

CELEBRATE BUSINESS WOMEN'S WEEK

Business Women's Club Looks Back On Active Year Of Service Work

The Newmarket Business and Professional Women's Club has looked back on a successful year of service work in the community. In fact, since the club was formed in Newmarket four years ago, it has made a great contribution to the welfare of the community.

This week the 40 members of the club are celebrating Business Women's Week with the other B. and P. clubs of Ontario.

The women of the club have made a particularly valuable contribution this year in a hospital project. The club is completing the furnishing of a room at York County hospital. Besides other help it has given to the hospital, the club operates and stocks a library there. Every week members visit the hospital and take books to the patients.

In March the women held a successful fashion show in the town hall with the co-operation of the Newmarket merchants. Money raised by the show together with funds from a games night and a draw for a radio last fall helped finance the furnishing of the hospital room.

Other charities which received aid from the B. and P. club in the past year include the Canadian Cancer Society, the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, the Newmarket Santa parade, the United Nations Association, the Foundation for Polio, Life Magazine subscription for the hospital and a $25 scholarship for the high school.

Club members assisted in the Red Cross drive by doing stenographic work.

At present the club is preparing a scrap book to include personality sketches of each member and a description of club activities which will be sent to a sister club at Kettering, England. Each year the club has sent Christmas and Easter parcels to the Kettering club.

Mrs. Lilian Rank, a club member who plans to visit England this summer, will be a visiting representative at the club in Kettering.

For their candidate as "Woman of the Year" sponsored by the Canadian Federation of B. and P. clubs, Mrs. Dorothy Bowman, whose work with cerebral palsied children is well known, has been nominated by the members.

The club is sending its president, Miss Norine Ayers to the 12th Biennial Convention of the Canadian Federation of B. and P. clubs at Vancouver, July 14 to 18.

The strength of this women's club is marked by the enthusiasm of each member. Every activity and project by the Newmarket B. and P. Club has been carried forth with a vigor and enthusiasm which is credited to the interest of each member in her community.

Humane Society's Dog Control Offer Accepted By Town

After a long campaign of persuasion by the North York Humane Society, Newmarket has finally decided to approve of dog control. At a meeting on Monday night, council decided to turn over dog licence revenue plus $2,000 to the society and let it take care of the problem.

Mrs. David Askew and Mrs. J. B. Waterhouse, representing the humane society, told council in a final plea that the society would completely "fold up" if council did not accept their offer.

The humane society's proposal had been discussed at council's 1952 budget meeting and it was turned down because council considered that it would mean an extra mill on the tax rate. Mrs. V. R. MacNaughton was the only councillor in favor of levying an extra mill to take care of the dog problem at that meeting.

Mrs. Askew told council Monday night that if the society's offer were refused, the town would only have to face the responsibility for dog control in the near future by itself. In an estimate by the society, it would cost the town $9,000 for the first year for dog control, including the cost of a pound, a truck and full time employment.

The society asks $2,000 plus the dog tax revenue for the first year and only the dog tax rights in years thereafter. Mrs. Askew said that the town eventually would be forced to implement dog control according to provincial legislation. "If the town collects dog tax, it must spend money on dog control," she said.

"The humane society for some time has had plans to take in a number of North York municipalities to finance dog control on a large scale. Mrs. Askew said that Markham and Richmond Hill were interested in the scheme but that the scheme could not be undertaken without Newmarket.

"Unless you can give us an answer tonight, we will drop the whole thing," she said.

Deputy-Reeve J. L. Spillette suggested that the town might back the humane society's credit at the bank until next year's budget and hand over the dog tax. He said that a possible surplus at the end of the year might take care of the added expenditure.

Members of council expressed the same opinion that council could hardly refuse the offer. Mrs. Askew pointed out that Newmarket would never have the same offer again.

Mayor Vale alone was strongly opposed to accepting the offer. He said that council had discussed it fully at a budget meeting and all but one member of council had been opposed to the expenditure. But on the final vote, the mayor registered the only opposition.

Mrs. Askew said today that the society cannot start dog control until June 2. Under law, the society must publish notices for two weeks before it can start.

"We would also like to ask the people not to expect miracles during the first month. It will take a short time to organize our facilities," she said.

Board Has Plans For New $25,000 Library Need Two Fifths Mill

The public library board has been considering the construction of a new library building for Newmarket.

Although members of the board said at a meeting last night that they realized the extent of increasing debt, they expressed the feeling that new library accommodation has been put off for too many years.

In the past three years, the library board has presented a number of accommodation proposals to town council. Two years ago they proposed the purchase of the Webb building on Main St. but the town later used this building to house the offices of the York County Health Unit.

Taking available government grants into consideration, the board estimated that an increase of two-fifths of a mill on the tax rate would finance the construction of a new $25,000 library building over 15 years. The board is planning to take the proposal to council.

M. H. McMorrow, member of the board, presented comparative figures on per capita levies for libraries in other towns. Newmarket's levy has been 39 cents per capita for many years. But the average among other towns in Ontario appeared to be from 80 cents to $1.

A new building in Newmarket would mean a levy of 80 cents per capita instead of 39 cents a year.

Acting chairman of the board, Dr. C. R. Vandervoort said that "for years the library has cost the town very little. All we have been doing is buying books. Nothing has been spent on maintaining a library building."

"You might consider that we have been saving the town money all these years and now we are going to ask for something for a new building," said E. J. Gould.

Walkerton, with a population of 3,247, has a per capita library levy of $1, the provincial grant being $1,720 annually. Newmarket's annual grant from the province is $88. If a new building were built, Newmarket would receive nearly $2,000 a year from the province.

The board has always expressed dissatisfaction with the present inadequate facilities. The library is housed in a room on a second floor above the Dominion Bank on Main St. and users must climb a long flight of stairs to reach it. The board also expects the rent for present quarters to be tripled when its lease expires in 18 months.

"More than half the people in town don't even know where the library is and some don't know whether one exists or not," said Mrs. G. E. Case.

"I think it would be a good thing if we could hear from some members of the public on what they think," said Dr. Vandervoort. "We would like to see some letters to the board or through the newspaper."

Location of such a building has been considered to be on Park Ave. behind the post office where the town owns land.

OPTIMIST CONVENTION

Attending the Optimist convention for district 15 at London the past weekend were Jack Hamilton, chairman of the Newmarket club and Lt. Governor of Zone 5, and Mrs. Hamilton, and chairman of the Newmarket Optimist club's boys' work committee, Don Warner. Vern Hutchinson, the Newmarket club's entrant in the public speaking contest at the convention, took fourth place.

MAKE FAIR GROUNDS COMMUNITY CENTRE

The old fair grounds property where a new floodlit ball diamond was completed last year was made a community centre by town by-law at a meeting of council Monday night.

The new community centre will be entitled to some provincial grants and will be governed by a board. Board members appointed were Charles Vanzant, J. O. Dales, Dewey Kuhns, James Gairdner, Arthur Carson, Frank Courtney and A. H. Topham.

Suggestions have been made to move the grandstand at the other end of the fair grounds to the north of the ball diamond.

THURSDAY, THE TWENTY-SECOND DAY OF MAY, NINETEEN HUNDRED AND FIFTY-TWO

Holland Landing fire department has installed a new siren on top of Goodwin's Tannery and it has become the pride and joy of the volunteers. They warmed it up at the fire meeting on Monday night and every dog between Aurora and Barrie howled in unison as the siren wailed forth.

The test was voted a grand success although the local jubilation was somewhat tempered by emergency calls for perforated ear-drums suffered by those who were standing close to the siren when it was started.

The difficulty in the past has been that the whistle at the tannery wasn't always heard by the firemen and sometimes confused with passing trains. We doubt if there will be any confusion in the future.

As a matter of fact, the siren is so penetrating, so ominous in its wail, that there is a strong possibility that the Toronto civil defence organization may lease rights to it in event of a raid from the north. It is felt that once the siren is really warmed up, residents of Toronto as far south as Queen St. will have no difficulty hearing it, even if they are in transit in the subway.

We attended the Central Ontario Weekly Papers Association meeting in Aurora on Saturday where a lovely lunch was served by members of the Aurora town council dressed in white chef's hats. The menu was entirely home-grown with locally cured ham, fried chicken and the fixings. It was a delicious meal and the efficiency with which it was served rivalled such organizations as the Ritz and Antones.

The meeting was held in the Legion Hall with the business session upstairs during the afternoon. We were unable to stay for the latter but we thoroughly enjoyed the opportunity to chin and chat with fellow publishers from the counties of York, Simcoe and Muskoka.

All the schools except those in Toronto are celebrating Empire Day on Monday next, according to statute. Each of the public schools in Newmarket is having a special program from 2:35 p.m. to 4 p.m., to which the public are cordially invited.

The West York Rural Deacons held their Chapter meeting at Aurora on May 10. The clergy attended in force.

A unique and picturesque event of the month will be a dance recital given by Miss Beatrice Morrow and her pupils in the town hall, Newmarket, on Friday evening. Miss Eve Howell of Hamilton, Miss Ruby Moss and Miss Jean Hunter of town, and Miss Nichol of Toronto will take part in the program.

About 125 members of Trinity Y.P.S. were entertained by the Young People's Society of Mount Albert on Monday evening.

An epidemic of stealing has again broken out in Markham township and besides chicken thefts, the midnight prowlers have taken to clearing out farmers' gasoline tanks, the latest victim being Mr. McIlwain of the 9th concession, who lost 40 gallons during his absence at Langstaff.

Several products of Aurora industries were drawn for but that procedure was abandoned when it came to the sweater offered by Aurora Textiles. A committee of three, Paul Rice, Huntsville, Bert Smith, Creemore, and the Era editor were appointed to judge the worthy recipient among the assembled wives of the editors.

Needless to say, it was an undertaking requiring much delicacy of judgment, so much so that the judges after much august consideration abandoned the terms of judgment in favor of those of chance, and invited the ladies to draw for it. Would that Solomon were there. Even though there weren't many sweaters along the Nile, his judgment would have saved the three committee men much embarrassment.

The weekend was actually the busiest for the district in some weeks. There was the inspection of St. Andrew's cadets by the governor-general on Friday, an Art Show in Newmarket over the weekend, a visit to Mount Albert by the Don Valley Conservation Association on Sunday, a gymkhana at Beverley farms by the Toronto and North York Hunt club, a dog show at Aurora on Saturday, the press meeting and finally, since Saturday was under the sign of the pisces, the day when we had to get our potatoes in.

We must confess that there are times when every editor should be equipped with an extra set of legs (in the opinion of many we are a two-headed species anyway) and additional fixtures. It's the only way one could get around to all these events. And they say nothing ever happens in the country.

Well, we solved the matter by concentrating on the potatoes.

Our forebears blazed the roads through North York. Now their descendants burn up the same roads with high speed cars.

NEED CHANGE IN TAX SET-UP

The council of East Gwillimbury has received seven applications for approval of sub-divisions since the beginning of the year. There are rumors that additional applications are pending. Under the circumstances, it might be expected that East Gwillimbury would "point with pride" to the expansion of the township. Not so. Reeve John Rye remarked recently that such urban developments inevitably cost the rural residents severe increases in taxes. He is perfectly correct in his reluctance to encourage such growth in the township.

The unfortunate truth is that where there is urban development, there is a demand for urban services. Many of these services are not needed nor wanted by the rural property owners, but willy-nilly, they must share the cost of them and since their properties far exceed in value those in the urban areas, they pay a disproportionate charge. It is bad enough to be billed for unwanted services; it is far worse to be obliged to pay a major share of the cost.

There has been a general acknowledgment of this situation, in the rural municipalities at least, but as far as we know, nothing specific has been done to remedy the situation. In Whitechurch, for example, it was proposed that farm properties be exempted from certain specific costs, those costs for essentially urban services. Another device is the practice of assessing only the farm buildings and an acre of land for the same sort of charges.

Whatever the answer, it is quite evident that one is required, and quickly. There is no justice in the manner in which taxes are levied in a mixed urban-rural area, without distinction between one and the other. There was a clear-cut example of inequality in the school section north of Newmarket where population growth at one end of the section crowded a school which was being paid for largely by a scarce farm population at the other end of the section.

It is not the municipalities' fault that this should be so. We understand that basic changes are required in the provincial act governing assessments before such distinctions can be made. And the municipalities can no more halt the growth of urban areas, in this district particularly, than could King Canute hold back the tide.

The municipalities could, however, insist on the revision of the assessment act to eliminate this, and other basic faults. Indeed, with all municipalities demanding it, the government might be induced to undertake a long look at methods of taxation in all departments with a view to return to municipalities the independence they have lost through their reliance upon government grants.

LOW RENTAL HOUSING

Newmarket shares with Danville the dubious distinction of being the first municipality to consider the new low rental housing proposal of the Central Housing and Mortgage Corporation. We say dubious because while low rental housing provides accommodation to those unable otherwise to pay for it, the scheme also requires fellow taxpayers to make up the loss, if any.

Income will determine the rent of these low rental units. The rent, in its turn, will determine the taxes. The provincial and federal governments together share the operating loss up to a point. After that, the taxpayers of Newmarket share the operating loss in the form of reduced taxation from the units. If the municipality had the authority to rent these houses, it would be able to exercise some control over the taxes it would receive. But the council is denied this. An independent housing authority will set the rents, and thus, the taxes.

The sum of all this is that Newmarket must first of all be prepared to share an operating loss, through loss of tax revenues, if the loss on the rents reaches a certain figure, and secondly, must forfeit part of its most precious prerogative, that of determining what taxes will be collected.

Are the benefits of a low rental housing sub-division worth these disadvantages? We doubt it very much. It is true that there is a strong need for low rental housing, that low rental housing can only be provided through government aid, and, in the case of Newmarket, land which is considered otherwise impractical for development will be put to good use.

But however worthy the motives, we doubt that they justify departure from taxation by representation, or that the taxpayers of Newmarket are willing to risk the possibility of shaving a tax loss among them.

But quite apart from the principles involved above, consider the wider implications of the proposal. Housing costs have risen something like 70 percent in the last six years and by far the biggest single contributor to those increased costs was the wage bill, both in the home construction and the building supply industry.

We don't suggest that workers in the building industry are any different than workers, say, in the automobile industry. They are no more eager to increase their wages than anyone else. But the fact remains that the accumulative effect has been to make it impossible to build a home for low renting without government aid. In short, the building industry has begun to price itself out of the business.

If the government proceeds with low rental housing, supporting the proposal with extensive subsidies, it is doing no less than subsidizing the building industry. We see no justification for that, not in an industry whose reputation exceeds that of all others for featherbedding.

CHANGES IN THE HOUSE

It looks as if the riding of York North is going to lose a goodly part of its south end to another riding, or ridings, by the time the redistribution process is through. We doubt if the residents at the north end will mourn the loss. Indeed, the consensus is that the farther north the boundary line is moved, the better.

There is a strong argument in favor of a strictly rural riding. The present combination of urbanized south end and rural north end is hardly practical. There is talk that there might be two extra ridings around the city. If so, York North would be happy to contribute space and population to the newcomers.

But if York North is willing to be generous, there is a strong feeling among the public that this whole business of increasing seats in the House of Commons is a mistake. They argue that the best government is the least government; that instead of increasing the number of seats, the redistribution committee should be decreasing them. There are many members in the house whose absence would never be noticed. Two birds could be killed with one stone if the house membership was reduced: comb out the sluggards, and divide the salary savings among the remaining members to give them the increases that are being talked about.

But there is a minority opinion which holds that the additional seats are needed to widen democratic representation, lessen the strain on individual members and help check government by civil servants. We hold to this opinion. In fact, we find no fault with parliament's operations at all. The reformers who always want to monkey with the works of such an institution forget one elemental fact: that institution is no better than the men who are members of it. It is all very well to talk of reducing seats but we venture that even in a reduced house, the proportion of good members to bad would remain the same.

The best and only way in which more efficient representatives can be provided in parliament is through the actions of the electors.

ENTRY OFF HIGHWAY

Newmarket has no direct entry onto the Barrie highway. There is a bridge across the highway where the town line intersects it, but no access to the highway. The traveller on the Barrie highway must come across the Aurora sidewalk or travel farther north. Here is a situation which the Newmarket council might look into. The lack of a convenient Newmarket entry could easily cost the town considerable business.

There is another consideration. Much of the traffic coming down from the south-east shore of Lake Simcoe is bound for the west side of Toronto. That traffic could swing right across the town-line and onto the Barrie highway, if there was an entry onto the highway. It would ease the congestion on Yonge St.

Office Cat Reports Catnips By Ginger

The boss is always talking about planting his garden items at the proper phases of the moon. Just about everything he talks about these days is related to the moon. For instance, on the weekend, he said, "The moon is at Pisces; Saturday will be just right for planting potatoes." He added that the "horn was down" and probably it would rain.

Since he moved to his farm, the boss has been getting awfully funny ideas. He consults almanacs and will go out and stand on a hilltop for hours, head thrust forward into a drizzly wind and he will consult with the weather. Contemplating difficult problems, he will walk over to the calendar and make pencil marks on the lunar tables.

In the final analysis, it's the moon that determines all. He even visits the barber shop according to the moon, explaining that the hair will not grow as fast if it is cut in the proper phase. Pisces, incidentally, is the moon phase when farmers dehorn their animals.

I actually wonder how great the lunar effect is on the boss. Is the moon becoming too great a thing in the boss' life. Is it such an extent that it is affecting his personality?

Jokingly, I said to him the other day, "Well, boss, isn't it about time to write an editorial on the East Thimbleberry by-election? Don't forget that election comes off at a significant phase of the moon, Taurus the Bull, you know. Ha ha."

"It's not Taurus, it's Scorpio, and I don't like it at all," snapped the boss. "And besides, it's no laughing matter and I'll thank you not to make light of matters of such serious significance."

Do you see what I was afraid of? I, your favorite correspondent, came to the horrifying realization that there was a possibility the boss writes his editorials by astrology. Editorials by horoscope! What a serious threat to our circulation if that were known!

But of course, I dismissed the dangerous thought. It would be perfectly ridiculous to write an editorial against a municipal by-law for a new housing subdivision simply because it was passed during Taurus the Bull, wouldn't it? Yes, I think it would be.

On Saturday night, I had to take a message to the boss. He had left the office so I trudged out to the farm. Climbing up the steep hill along his laneway, I heard a strange noise from the direction of a small pickle pear tree. There was a snipping noise emanating from its uppermost branches.

In the distance, I heard a hound dog bay. I was conscious of a presence over my right shoulder but the whole atmosphere was so eerie, I didn't bother to turn around and look. I knew it was a moon and I knew it was hoarse.

Snip, snip. The sound in the pear tree continued. Snip, snip. I edged over closer and perceived the whistles of the boss' eyes between the top leaves.

"Hello there, fine night isn't it," he shouted. (The boss has a dialect when he is on the farm.)

There he was, looking nonchalant, with a pair of snippers snapping away at the branches of his pickle pear tree.

"It's Pisces, snipping time," he said.

"But do you have to work at night," I asked, suspicious.

"Oh no," the boss said. "I'm only at night that you see. It's all effect of the moon. I come to have more pickle pears that year." Snip, snip and a hound bayed in the distance.

If the thing wasn't made by pretty soon, I am going to have to consult the Top Cat Manual below there. It's getting that way.

In the western world, the population is surging ahead and unless we manage to slow ourselves off they'll jump with some terrible upward of force. There will be no other limitation to an increase of population, except lack of food to feed us.

The latter condition is being much faster because the weather is still the old weather and no person can tell us about the crop that we have just about finished sowing will be like. A lot of things can happen and some undoubtedly will. Just about anything can be in store for us and we would like to point out to you the most unappreciated fact in the life of the farmer: that any urban dweller can be sure that when he reaches his sleepy head in the milk box, there will be a quart of milk while the farmer has no idea if he will be able to produce it with the same degree of certainty. This fact keeps our eye-bited to the sky where it all comes from and keeps our feet on the ground we have to work with.

We think that the farmer's lot would be easier if this fact was more appreciated. Our demands would be met with more sympathy if it was realized that the risk we are taking is more than any man should carry and our demands for some sort of assurance, of price and safeguard against fluctuation would be better understood if it was known that we are in the most uncertain business there is. Our concern is not for the fleshpot of the dole, but for survival.

York County Hospital

Women's Aid

November, 1923 - September, 1940

(3RD INSTALMENT)
Besides the regular functions which now went to make up a year's program, the ladies set up a committee for the purpose of catering. Their first venture along these lines was a dinner for the Masons at which approximately 200 persons were guests. The profits from this function were hardly in the bank when, at the request of the board, $200 was paid toward financing screens for the hospital. This year, too, the Hospital Board and the Hospital Aid pooled their resources to present the ultimate in garden parties which was held in the hospital grounds. The Aid was responsible for supplying and serving the supper while the Board looked after the entertainment.

As in other years, the social committees of the United, Christian, Catholic, Friends, Presbyterian and Anglican churches were called upon for help and it was decided to cater for one thousand guests. Most of the food was canvassed for and donated, and the following list of the items used as taken from the secretary's report are most illuminating: "102 cakes, 157 pies, 98 salads, 30 pounds of butter, 22 dozen tarts, 100 lbs. of ham, 40 large loaves of bread, 28 quarts of cream, 12 gallons of milk, 13 lbs. of coffee; 2 lbs. of tea, 10 lbs. of loaf sugar. The dishes, including cream and sugar sets and pickle dishes, were loaned by Mr. Bosworth, 72 dozen being ordered... each church supplied jellies and pickles for its own tables."

As if the preparation and serving of these vast quantities of food did not involve enough work, "during the evening the left-over cakes and pies were sold, and sandwiches made of the bread and butter and ham left over, and the sum of $34.50 was realized from this." The gross receipts were $1,312.56 with a net profit of $899.78 which swelled the Auxiliary coffers by the addition of a hard-earned $402.89. We asked our "original Aider"—she of the colorful recollections and a final authority on all matters pertaining to this Auxiliary—what was her most vivid impression of these garden parties, and somehow it did not surprise us when she grimly declared "the draped jellies always ran!"

Before the Auxiliary recessed for the summer "it was suggested that 'Sunshine Bags' be issued to each member, in which one cent was to be put for each day of sunshine." This was agreed upon and each member of the executive was asked to bring ten bags to the next meeting. It must have been an unusually fine, dry, summer because when the bags were turned in at the September meeting the secretary notes that the amount collected was $104.41. Miss Dulmage attended the October meeting and "gave us an inventory of the linen on hand in the hospital and also a list of the minimum proper equipment of a 27-bed hospital. This was thoroughly discussed and an estimate made of what was needed to bring our supplies up to the necessary amount. It was then moved... that the purchasing committee be authorized to spend up to $300 for these supplies. This would equip 27 hospital beds and 12 nurses' beds." This year too, the children's donations of fruit and vegetables came from farther afield, for "it was arranged that Miss Lyons should take Mrs. H. Cane and Mrs. Chantler to the schools at Sharon, Queensville and Keswick as she so kindly offered to do."

It was well that the year had been a success financially because "the present refrigerator is unsatisfactory owing to the need of additional wiring being added for cooking purposes... a suitable refrigerator having 144 ice cubes and 22 square feet of shelf space could be supplied at a cost of $605. With a compressor large enough to have an additional box for the babies' bottles in the nursery, the cost would be $90 more." Needless to say, they decided to buy the refrigerator and the box. Sewing Machine

Within the year "Miss Dulmage was anxious to have an electric sewing machine and an additional frigidaire upstairs for use in the babies' ward." The ladies, however, had apparently become attached to their old pedal machine (it had been second-hand in the beginning) for "it was decided to see if it were possible to attach an electric motor to the present sewing machine." It was, because at the next meeting they note that such an "electric motor could be bought for $17.95 f.o.b. Toronto and it was moved that Mrs. Bosworth be authorized to order it." They also note "that the new refrigerator had been bought... to be used with the former compressor, cost, installed, to be $175."

During the next decade, 1930-40, we notice a gradual decline in the Activity of the Aid. This does not mean that the members were disinterested or apathetic, but their overall policy was guided by the growth and fortunate financial circumstances which gradually obtained in the hospital during this period, and the frantic pace they had set for themselves could be moderated as the urgent need for their assistance decreased.

The help which the Aid had rendered to the hospital at the beginning was invaluable and it can be safely said that without that help and encouragement it is extremely doubtful if the hospital could ever have become the self-contained unit it now was. By 1930 the institution was standing on its own two feet, so to speak.

In Mr. Eves' article he notes that supplies and living costs were comparatively cheap, that there was a preponderance of aspiring nurses and good domestic help was available at reasonable wages. The depression era was just around the corner, but the financial foundation of the hospital had been firmly and truly laid and it would be another 15 years before the administrators would have cause to worry. The ladies therefore felt justified in foregoing the annual winter carnival and a summer garden party, substituting instead a dance during the winter which became an outstanding event in the social life of the town.

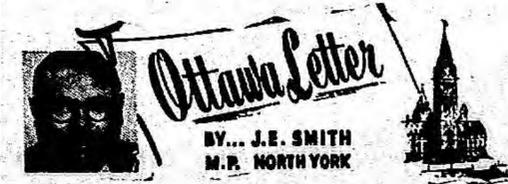

Kept Up Supplies
Until they disbanded, this Aid continued "to keep the hospital's supply of linen, blankets, cutlery and dishes up to the standard required," but the last large piece of equipment purchased was a much-needed obstetrical table which the Aid financed themselves with some help from the local Women's Institutes, because, as the minutes of November, 1932, note "owing to business conditions, we have felt it unwise to attempt to raise money as frequently as usual."

With the pressing need for money-making removed, the ladies were able to give the hospital more personal attention. They set up a Baby Chest which they kept filled with infants' clothing to supply indigent maternity patients; a visiting committee was appointed, one member of which was to "go to the hospital each week to visit the matron and any patients who were not having many visitors. At each of our meetings enough ladies would volunteer to make these calls so there would be one for each week until our next meeting."

It was "mentioned that it might be a nice plan to send flowers to the public wards... and it was moved that someone be appointed to buy flowers or plants and to take them to the hospital once a month." They also provided subscriptions to several magazines, making this reading material available to all patients.

"Thus the decade passed until by autumn of 1940 it was pretty generally felt that most community efforts must be submerged in national endeavor if we were to get about our business of winning another war, so it was perhaps fitting that on September 3, 1940, Mrs. William Bosworth, who had acted as secretary pro tem, and had taken the minutes of that first Aid meeting in November of 1923, should be the one to move that "due to the (good) financial position of the hospital and the fact that there would be a great many demands on the public for war purposes... that our activities be suspended for the duration of the war with the exception of the magazine subscriptions and Christmas cheer."

Unfortunately, the annual reports of this former Aid do not include complete treasurer's reports, so it is impossible to establish the exact amount of monies raised by these ladies. However, this figure has been set, conservatively, it is felt, in the neighborhood of $40,000 for the 17 years they were active; no mean amount this, but the intangible assets they established are beyond computation since it would be impossible to place a monetary value on the years of unstinted service given or the goodwill and fine public relationship that these ladies were at such pains to establish and maintain.

Ottawa is becoming noted for its beautiful tulip display and right now thousands and thousands of these blooms are at their best in the capital. This year there are more than a half a million blooms on Parliament Hill, around the National War Memorial and along the driveways.

Every year about 16,000 new tulip bulbs arrive here from Holland, a continuing gift from Queen Juliana to our national capital. The gift is an ever-present reminder of the gratitude of a Queen and her consort for hospitality shown them during the years of World War II.

Visitors from India
Five top-ranking public health officials from India arrived in Ottawa this week to study public health services in Canada.

They will make an eight weeks study and later will be joined by officials from Ceylon and Pakistan. The mission is here in Canada through the efforts of the technical assistance section of the Colombo Plan, by which western democracies hope to extend technical assistance in many fields to Asiatic countries.

In the house this week External Affairs Minister Lester Pearson described Dr. James Endicott of Toronto as one who thinks he is a fisherman, for peace but who is in reality "bait on a red hook" and a dupe of Moscow.

Dr. Endicott recently returned from Korea and at a mass meeting in Toronto was critical of United Nations and particularly United States policy. Mr. Pearson assured the house that the United States was conducting germ warfare were entirely false.

Justice Minister Garson said his department is studying the advisability of laying charges against Dr. Endicott.

Mr. Pearson said the best proofs of the "lie" campaign regarding germ warfare is the United Nations' willingness to accept an impartial check by the International Red Cross, or the World Health Organization, and the Soviet's refusal to agree to any such impartial investigation.

By-Elections
Sixteen candidates have been named to contest six by-elections on May 26. The voting will be in two Ontario constituencies, Waterloo North and Ontario, and two Quebec ridings and two in New Brunswick. In Ontario ridings three parties have candidates, in New Brunswick there are two party contests between Liberals and Conservatives, and in Quebec ridings there are independent candidates in addition to Liberal, Conservative and C.C.F.

The by-elections will be an interesting test of public opinion but cannot in any way seriously affect the working majority of the government.

Picture News from C-I-L

COMING OUT THIS MONTH! C-I-L's new "Coronation Colors" to make your walls as beautiful as these! They're semi-gloss paints with the deep, rich colors so popular in modern decorative schemes. They can be mixed with each other, with white, or with any other C-I-L semi-gloss finish to give an unlimited range of attractive colors.

"BED SOCKS" for aircraft! Ground crew men are pulling a protective nylon cover over wing of an R.C.A.F. jet. When planes are parked outside, this versatile, modern fabric keeps the weather out. The men like nylon because it's lighter than canvas, easier to handle.

INDUSTRIAL HISTORY was made when the first sod was turned for new C-I-L plant at Maitland. In the Company's Annual Report, just released, President H. Greville Smith (right) told shareholders of record $10 1/2 million spent on new construction in 1951. Many new chemical projects were started to provide you with better things in the future.

Did you know?

By far the largest single project ever undertaken by C-I-L is the plant to manufacture nylon intermediates at Maitland, Ontario. It will make Canada self-sufficient in all chemicals needed to manufacture this wonder fabric. The new plant will lead to more nylon for your easier living.

Centre York D.A.

"Leadership is no bed of roses. Often confined to minority groups, often lonely and beset with discouragement and a few enemies, it is strengthened and uplifted by personal satisfaction and inward spiritual reward that comes from the inspiration and determination to uphold one's conviction with courage, and to give one's best," declared Miss Anna P. Lewis, representative of the Ontario department of agriculture, during her first visit to Centre York Women's Institute at the third annual meeting in King United church on May 14, chaired by the president, Mrs. R. C. Baycroft.

King Ridge was welcomed into the district. Because true service to mankind is inspired by love, Institute workers are a great force in creating harmonious human relations, said Miss Lewis, referring to the Mary Stewart Collect, in which can be found renewal of good feeling and understanding toward others. "Put the spark into enthusiasm, keep it living and pass it on to your groups," urged the speaker. "Let's shake ourselves out of the doldrums to organize peppy, interesting meetings." In her opinion, there is something wrong with a W.I. meeting that is 50 percent business.

When Rev. M. R. Jenkinson welcomed the large gathering that represented 13 branches and several Institute visitors, he spoke of the terrific job women are doing through their various organizations. Their God-given genius for service enriches life, he asserted, extending wishes for continuing success. Replying, Mrs. George Shoultz said it is a good habit to attend district annuals. They promote better understanding and fresh impetus for the year's work.

In her presidential address, Mrs. Bayeroff stressed the co-operation branches had given her. After outlining her district activities during the year, she enlarged on the subject of loyalty. "One of the most important factors in the progress and development of any community is loyalty, without which there is stagnation," she stated. Canadian communities are built around the home, the school and the church and loyalty to each of these great institutions is vital. It is a positive quality and thrives with action.

One of the impressive aspects of a district annual is the executive work of the secretary-treasurer. This, Mrs. Fred Hare accomplishes to the satisfaction of all branches. She reported 460 members in 13 branches, ten of which have contributed $405 toward the York County Girls' Scholarship Fund. The sum of $95 was donated to the Greek tractor fund.

Extension Services
The major changes in policy and operation of special services offered by the W.I. branch, department of agriculture, were explained by Miss Lewis. She stressed the requirements of adequate attendance. Services are too costly to operate on low attendance. The decision of each branch must reach her office at 1207 Bay St., Toronto, not later than July 12. There are 39 topics available.

Federation of Agriculture
Mrs. Ross Armistage, Centre York representative on the York County board of the federation of agriculture, and her alternate, Mrs. H. A. White, reported on the annual sessions of the Ontario organization. Mrs. Armistage spoke of the definite place women have in agriculture interests. They should study prices as the homemaker is the first to budget. Mrs. White outlined important resolutions passed at the annual meeting of the provincial federation.

Guelph Conference
The theme of the Guelph conference, April 30, May 1 and 2, was "Programs With Broader Vision". Highlights of these important sessions were presented by Mrs. Bayeroff and Mrs. E. Reddick, district delegates. Mrs. R. J. Marshall, president of the International Council of Women, spoke of seeing United Nations at work, and the place women have in helping to solve the world's problems. Mrs. Purcell, president of provincial Institutes, and other prominent leaders all contributed to an outstanding conference. Miss Florence Reynolds of the Food and Agriculture Organization of United Nations spoke on the place of the F.A.O. in the W.I. programs. Mrs. Reddick was much impressed with the broadening effect of Miss Reynolds' wealth of factual information.

Dr. Barton, Canada's deputy minister of agriculture, and Lester Pearson, minister of external affairs, were guiding lights of the conference, said Mrs. Reddick.

Miss Ethel Chapin, former woman's editor of the Farmers' Magazine, and now on the W.I. staff, spoke on leadership. Mrs. Chas. Agnew of Edgely said that Ontario is looking for a representative to act on the executive of the Associated Country Women of the World. She should be a woman living fairly close to London, England, one who has lived in Ontario, one who will protect the interests of the F.W.I.C. (Canada), and preferably one who has been a Women's Institute member. Suggestions for a name should be forwarded to Mrs. R. G. Purcell, Fort William, provincial president.

To help finance the triennial conference of the A.C.W.W. in August, 1953, a levy of 35 cents, minimum per member, is to be imposed by the provincial board. Souvenir pins will be sent to branches to mark the occasion. "Wear them, and stir up curiosity," Mrs. Agnew urged.

Mrs. Hugh Summers, Fonthill, F.W.I.C. and F.W.I.O., will be a representative at the opening of the Royal Winter Fair. There will be a booth representing Women's Institutes at the fair. Due to increased costs, F.W.I.C. fees have been raised from 5 to 7 cents per member, payable in February, 1953.

Applications for W.I. holiday week at Guelph, July 14, must be forwarded by July 1. Rates at $2 per day.

Homemaking Clubs
Mrs. Ruth Clarke, York County home economist, spoke on the club work of girls in rural areas who are given an opportunity to develop their interests by joining a club at the age of 12 until 26, sponsored by the parent W.I. Temperanceville, Pine Orchard and Nobleton are organized and their project work will be displayed at the county Achievement Day, at Newmarket on May 31.

The report on York County Hospital Auxiliary, stressing the canvass which falls this month, was given by Mrs. T. L. Williams. An appeal was made to Centre York branches to take part again this year. The auxiliary hopes to devote proceeds toward hospital equipment.

Music had its place on the program. Mrs. Arnold Peter of King City sang two lovely solos, accompanied by Mrs. Gordon Wells. A group of six members of Gormley Institute sang two numbers. Mrs. Marjorie McClure led the community singing and Mrs. Smith of Gormley accompanied.

Nobleton Wins Quilt Prize
The $5 Salada Tea award for a hand-made quilt went to Nobleton branch. Judged by Miss Lewis, its Dresden fan design was original and workmanship very beautiful. It goes on to the area convention in November.

When visiting district presidents spoke, they brought greetings from their areas. They were Mrs. Elton Armstrong, North York; Mrs. Watson, West York; and Mrs. Franey, East York.

Other aspects of the convention will be given next week.

MOTHERS DISCUSS NEEDS FOR CAMP
"Let's Go To Camp" was the theme of the closing meeting for the season of the Scout-Guide Mothers' auxiliary. Held in the Newmarket Scout hall on Monday, May 7, the program was under the direction of the District Guide commissioner, Mrs. Nelson Ion. Mrs. Victor McCutcheon presided over the business meeting.

Colored movies of the Hamilton girl guides at camp were shown and a sing song with Mrs. Horvace Jacques at the piano was enjoyed by the mothers. Mr. Bert Budd acted as projectionist.

Camping for the local guides and brownies was discussed at length with the result that a day camp will be considered for this summer. The tentative date set was for the third week in July. Before any definite arrangements can be made, a meeting of prospective leaders, the mothers of the guides and brownies and representatives from the Scout camp committee will be called.

At the close of the business session refreshments were served.

HOLD OPENING GAME
The Ladies Lawn Bowling Club will hold its opening game of the season on Friday May 30, at 2 p.m. All members and prospective new members are welcome. The games convene for the season is Mrs. Ron Watt. Special afternoon games are planned by Mrs. B. Brown and Mrs. M. Mitchell.

IT'S A Woman's World

By CAROLINE ION

Did you ever stop to think that you and I, every one of us, have a stake in our country's conservation? So often we shake a disapproving finger at the farmers. We say "Why don't they do something about conservation before it's too late?" Or, as it perhaps more frequently happens we merely shrug our shoulders, completely indifferent.

John Bradshaw, horticulturalist, brought home to each gardener present at the May meeting of the Newmarket Horticultural society, his individual responsibility in this matter. He said that every time we mow the lawn, pick some flowers or dig a few vegetables we are depleting the soil. Do we attempt to replenish it?

History has shown what happens to a civilization which continues to drain its soil. Gradually over the years, the once fertile lands become an arid desert. Many of the great civilizations crumbled, not because they were destroyed by their enemies' armies but because their young men turned from the soil. It takes a nation of farmers to keep any country alive.

For many, as long as they can turn on the tap and get water, their interest in conservation is vague. The difficulties which our town has experienced in its well-drilling operations are not confined to this area. Many towns are coming to the realization, and perhaps too late, that the water level is alarmingly low.

The waste and destruction of water sources, water on the rampage as seen each spring in the disastrous floods, is further evidence of poor conservation practices. With the wholesale slaughter of our forests, we have these situations arising where the barren fields do not retain the water in the soil as would the root-systems of established trees. Valuable top soil is washed away. Yearly the experience is repeated.

It is not possible for all of us to sponsor a reforestation project in the sand-hills, to the east of Newmarket, is ample evidence of the way lands drained by our forefathers can be restored through irrigation and reforestation. But, each one of us who has a garden can do his part.

We can see that any material which can be converted into humus goes to the compost pile, never to the garbage can. Properly supervised, the compost heap has no offensive smell. Anyone can arrange one and at the end of the season their efforts will be rewarded with a quantity of home-grown fertilizer. This added humus will help lighten the soil as well as enrich it.

Composite Heap
With some old lumber, construct a box; the usual dimensions should be 18" x 4", but you can make it the size you want. This box has no bottom, just sides. As you need a supply of top soil available, a good idea is to remove the top soil from the location of the proposed composite heap and keep it in a pile conveniently at hand. Then into the composite pile goes all table scraps, rhubarb leaves, vegetable peelings and the discarded bouquet, in fact, anything with the exception of metal can be used.

You continue this until you have a layer about six inches deep, packed firmly. Cover this with one inch of top soil and if you wish several hands full of a balanced plant food. Repeat this procedure, watering thoroughly each completed layer as you go. It isn't difficult. If conscientiously pursued, it will be the end of your garden's need for barnyard manure. You will be doing something in your own garden to replenish the soil.

Soil Analysis
It is surprising how many gardeners are unaware of the many free services provided by our provincial and federal governments. From either source, booklets may be obtained on every phase of gardening. There are pamphlets on lawns, perennial borders, small fruits, vegetables, pest and weed control and further information is available, again free of charge, with instructions for jam, jelly and pickle making and quick freezing and canning the produce of your gardens.

Another service is the soil analysis. How can you know what type of commercial fertilizer your soil requires if you have never had it tested? A container may be obtained from your local agricultural office complete with the instructions on how to procure your soil specimen and the address at O. A. C., Guelph. This service is without charge and after your soil has been analyzed, the specialists will recommend the type of fertilizer needed. Some soils may be lacking in nitrogen. Others may need more potash. Once you know what your soil requires you can obtain a fertilizer with a higher percentage of the needed ingredient.

For many, as long as they can turn on the tap and get water, their interest in conservation is vague. The difficulties which our town has experienced in its well-drilling operations are not confined to this area. Many towns are coming to the realization, and perhaps too late, that the water level is alarmingly low.

Random Ramblings In Sports

Sports Extras: Agnes Wezner, who has been one of the stalwarts of girls' softball in Aurora the past five years, left this week for her home in Saskatchewan for the summer. She expects to return in the fall. Edna Snigle, who played some great softball for Aurora teams in yesteryear, accompanied Miss Wezner for a month's visit in the West.

Bradford lacrosse fans are all agog with the return of Harold Gwynn to the team. Harold, former Newmarket - Bradford player, played with Brooklin last summer and was especially spectacular against Celerytown. The neighboring oasis expects to land one of two players from the Brampton area as the Excelsiors have dropped out of senior lacrosse.

Alliston has joined the South Simcoe softball circuit and Tottenham, due to start, have folded. That still leaves a well balanced six club circuit.

Wrestling is underway at Richmond Hill Arena every Tuesday night and matchmaker Red Garner and the Richvale-Langstaff crowd will doubtless draw bigger crowds in view of the past mayhem and fireworks. Local boys like ex-lacrosseists, Norm "Farmer" Alexander, and Cleve Burton, youthful Johnny "Hot-Rod" Parisi, Joe Greenfield, Bill Clubine, etc., give the local interest and of course there's such characters as Billy Penchoff, Ed. Magnolich, Jack Diamond, Tony Rocci, "The Syrian Cyclone", Harry Szalay, Baron Von Seiber, Rip Leonard, and as well as many new faces appearing.

Stan Smith might give the Newmarket fans a chance to see these thespians in action. We think the spectators would like them as well as the "Tooney-Loonney" boys, and at lower prices. Whipper Watson is now recovered and North Yorkers will see him soon as Stan gets his match-making underway with the first show May 24 with regular dates thereafter.

Stew and Howard Patrick, well known Aurora sportsmen, are operating Glendale Pavilion and Beach at Musselman's this season and they'll welcome all their friends any time. Big improvements have been made, especially at the beach.

Ewart Jennings, former athlete at Aurora high, and King City softballer, has been appointed assistant agricultural rep. for Lambton County.

Applause Dept.: Aurora Rotary Club deserve some words of credit for their interest in teenage hockey. Like the Lions and Legions, they sponsored a minor team in Aurora this winter, but they beat the field in honoring Aurora Bears. The club is planning a dance at Graystones on June 6 and tickets are now available from club members. Proceeds will go to provide mementoes to the boys. No news as to what the club itself will do for the kids. We understand they had a surplus of several hundred

Newmarket Opens With Win

Newmarket intermediate baseball is off on the right foot. Palgrave was the target Monday as the South Simcoe Baseball League season opened. Coach Hack Cain gave Ortie Thoms the starting mound assignment. It was the right choice.

Ortie reached down into his bag of tricks for a nifty three-hitter and that feat, coupled with a searing seven-run blast in the third, gave Newmarket a 10-3 win. Ortie ran into minor spots of trouble. In the second, Palgrave squeezed over a run off a hit batsman, a walk, and Harvey Wallace's single.

Palgrave punched home two more in the third, both unearned, as Ortie's control deserted him, and he gave up three walks. His mates committed an error and John O'Leary, Palgrave center-fielder drove a single through the infield. That was the extent of Palgrave run scoring as the home hitters ate out of Ortie's hand in fourth and fifth.

Redmen counted first in the third. Jerry Hugo doubled and John McTavish promptly singled his mate home. Then came the explosion that rocked Palgrave and put the Redmen in line for a win—four Palgrave errors, as many stolen bases, a walk, at hit batsman plus safeties by Alvie McKnight and John McTavish set the Redmen off on a seven-run spree.

Just for good measure, Redmen chucked two more runs into the kitty in the fifth on singles by Jerry Hugo, Alvie McKnight and Hack Cain. Redmen had eight hits, Alvie McKnight, Jerry Hugo, John McTavish and Hack Cain contracting for two each. The Cain-Robinson-Hudson-Bennitt men may not win 'em all but they'll be in there trying. Infield looks solid with Don Gibson, Wayne Robinson, Jerry Hugo and John McTavish ringing the diamond. Hack Cain, Alvie McKnight and Bill Grant patrolled the outfield. Ready for mound work are Ortie Thoms, Jimmy Cook and a pair of southpaws, Bill Bannister and Ivan Gibson. Stan Winger was the only receiver on duty Monday and handled the big glove and pitcher Thoms in ace fashion.

Newmarket: D. Gibson 1b, McKnight cf, Hugo ss, McTavish 3b, Cain lf, Thoms p, Robinson 2 b, Grant rf, Winger c, utility, I. Gibson, Wilkins, Cook, Wright Bennitt Bannister.

Sr. Ladies Open Monday

The curtain goes up next week on the Barris and District Ladies Softball League season. The league will again have five teams in the race. They are Barrie, Midland, Stayner, Newmarket and R.C.A.F. Women's Division, Camp Borden.

Orillia, fifth team last season, dropped out and R.C.A.F. Women's Division were accepted for membership at a recent meeting.

Charlie VanZant's Newmarket nine will launch their season with a visit to Midland Monday to help the northerners, last year's champions, get their home season mobile. Barrie will be here Thursday, May 29, to open the home campaign.

Newmarket's games are: May 26, Newmarket at Midland; May 29, Barrie at Newmarket; June 3, Newmarket at Barrie; June 5, Stayner at Newmarket; June 11, Newmarket at Stayner; June 12, R.C.A.F. at Newmarket; June 16, Barrie at Newmarket; June 19, Newmarket at R.C.A.F.; June 23, Newmarket at Midland; June 26, Stayner at Newmarket; July 5, Newmarket at Barrie; July 10, Midland at Newmarket; July 16, Newmarket at Stayner; July 17, R.C.A.F. at Newmarket; July 24, Midland at Newmarket; July 31, Newmarket at R.C.A.F.

THE Calvert SPORTS COLUMN

Hockey in the major sphere is a hard game, a hard-hitting game, but we believe that one player, whose body-checking was the terror of opposing forwards when he was at the peak of his rugged career, moves into well-earned retirement with a keen appreciation of the sporting spirit of old-time ice-enemies who might have crashed him when he had not much left with which to combat them, but didn't.

No one ever played the game harder than did John Sherratt (Black Jack) Stewart, at the peak of his career with Detroit Red Wings, or when he first joined forces with Chicago Hawks.

Black Jack Stewart, 185 pounds of brawn, muscle and courage, was rated one of the most punishing body-checkers in the National Hockey League. He hit with shattering force. He and Jimmy Orlando, in the hey-day of both, formed a defense for Detroit Red Wings which kept many an opposing forward awake nights, counting the teeth he might not have after the next game.

Stewart was still a great hockey player when he was traded to Chicago Black Hawks. But the crashing, hard-hitting type of game he played finally bounced back on him, as if retribution had set in. A disc slipped in his back, forced him to quit. With typical grim spirit, he fought this off, took daily hours of exercise even while flat on his back in bed. He came back to play, apparently recovered. Then he ran into even greater misfortune at the beginning of the 1951-52 season. He crashed into a team-mate, fell backwards, struck his head heavily, and sustained a severe concussion.

Even after that, Jack Stewart came back again. But quickly it was apparent that all Stewart had left was the light of battle that blazed from his dark eyes, and the grim set of his mouth. That was enough to render many opponents cautious, as they recalled his body-checking prowess, but it soon became evident that Stewart couldn't hit a body-check, that he was depending on skill and experience to foil opposing players.

And here this observer saw what he believes to be one of the finest sporting gestures made in hockey action. For years Stewart had been a star, a player who asked no quarter, gave none. He was a hockey player's hockey player. But when in the closing chapters of his career, when he might easily have been knocked over, perhaps badly hurt, if crashed by an incoming attacker, other players seemed careful to avoid him. It wasn't through caution, at this time. At least, that's what we are sporting-minded enough to believe. It was out of sheer respect for a once-great player who in his hey-day would have mowed down the invaders. Briefly put, the boys just didn't want to hurt Jack Stewart. They had too much regard for his courage, for his great record as a hard-hitting, game and accomplished defensive star, now not quite able to defend himself.

So this observer believes Stewart carries into his retirement a recollection that sporting spirit runs high among the players of the League.

HASHMAN AWARD

Thoms' Three Hitter

Guess everybody at one time or another has run across the old saying: "If you're going to start anything - start it right." Our intermediate baseballers, though most of them have just graduated from the knee pant circle, apparently got wind of this sage observation. On Monday they opened up in the South Simcoe Baseball League and immediately started in with a thundering 10 - 3 win in Palgrave.

Ample evidence was scattered around of hustle, snappy base running, fancy fielding and solid socking. Standing out like a sore thumb in the triumph was the three-hit pitching chore turned in by Ortie Thoms. Ortie, Coach Hack Cain's nominee for the starting job, had a couple of shaky frames - but in the end had the Palgrave sluggers thoroughly tamed.

Therefore this week, as a salute to the return of baseball to the Hub, Ortie Thoms is nominated for the Hashman award and Roxy Theatre pass.

Close Games In Town Loop

The town league resumed Monday with two tidy struggles. Winners were Office Socially and Thompson-Bell. Three-hit pitching by Lefty Don. Glover and a three-run home run blast by Howie Ash staked Office Specialty to a 5-1 win over Bob Murray's Hoffman Pressmen.

Bill VanZant, Hoffman chucker, and Don. Glover, locked in a 2-1 hurlers' duel over four frames. Then Bill ran into a heap of trouble. His fifth frame shot to Howie Ash was too good and Ash promptly lifted it out of the park. That hoist meant three runs and the ball game as Bun Cook and Don. Burch had snuck aboard via rifle shot singles.

Hoffman supplied their shut-out killer in round one - Ross Eves was aboard on an error and Bruce Townsley without further ado doubled his mate home. The cabinet-makers put together their two start-off runs in the third as Tod Mosier, Bun Cook and Wilf. Elsy rode out consecutive singles.

Thompson-Bell eked out a 5-4 win over Sports-Cycle in a hurlers' battle that matched Cycles' Ted Tidman and T-B's Morley Cook. Cycles were trailing 5-1 heading the seventh, but staged a grand-stand rally that all but pulled the game out of the fire. T-B hit twice early to solidify a 5-1 lead. Morley Cook homered Harold LaPlante home in the second. It was Cookie again in the fourth, his double on top of walks to Lloyd Cudmore and Jack Teasdale, punched home two runs. Cookie in turn scored on Dick Hamon's hooper single. Cycles clicked in the sixth, and then scared the be-jabbers out of T-B's with a three-run seventh.

Jack Staley opened the last ditch rally with a single, followed by side-by-side doubles by Ross Eves and Art Dobbie. With two away Harvey Gibney depopulated the sacks with his two base-effort before Morley Cook stopped the rally dead by whiffing pinch-hitter Alvie McKnight.

Aurora Opens With Win

Bill Mundell herded his Aurora bantam Cubs into Sutton Monday to start the newly organized North York minor baseball league season away and running. Mundell's whizzers scored in every frame to roll up a 12-3 majority over Mike Gillan's Suttonites.

Jack Brooks, Mundell's starter, hurled steady 12 strike-out ball before giving away to reliever Bill Jans in the fifth. Bill Wray tripled, Herb McKenzie, Bert Loveless and Bill Jans teed off for doubles to provide Aurora's long ball run scoring hitting. Rudy Big Canoe took the rubber for Sutton and was also Sutton's hit artist with a triple. Cec. Carpentier and Ed. Bohan were other Sutton whiz-kids at the platter. Aurora's second sacker Dave Fines turned in the prize fielding performance.

Aurora: A. Childs ss, D. Fines 2b, H. McKenzie 3b, R. White c, B. Loveless lf, B. Sutton lb, W. Jans rf and p, J. Brooks p, K. Browning 2b, P. Babcock c, C. Vrana rf.

Jack Dempsey Here

The grab and break artists return for the 1952 season Saturday, May 21. Jack Dempsey, "The Manassa Mauler", ex-heavyweight champion of the world, will be on hand to referee the main bout. The main bout will send Yukon Eric, the North Country's strongman, to battle Jim "The Bull" Wright, the West's answer to what happens to folks who eat all their victims.

The supporting card is big league in every detail. In the early bout, 9 p.m. sharp, Bit Stack (Oshawa) will put in a session with Charro Aztec of New Mexico.

Woe Willie Davis (Hollywood) will match elbow bends and chops with Zorra "The French Tarzan" in the semi-final clash. The three-bout card promises to be one of the best of the season. Tickets can be secured at the arena, Fulson's, and Corner Cupboard.

Enforcement Of Dog By-Law To Prohibit Nuisances: Discussion On Water Supply

A regular meeting of the town council was held on Monday night, May 19, when the mayor and all members were present. The highlight of the meeting was the attendance of the consulting engineer, Mr. Redfern, who presented maps and detailed suggestions in connection with sewage and water.

Correspondence, which was light, included a letter regarding the library chimney, which, it was claimed, was not in order. Councillor Corbett stated that the firemen had examined the chimney and had found nothing wrong with it. The clerk was instructed to reply accordingly.

A petitioner appeared in connection with his property assessment and business tax, complaining that he was being penalized. He went on record as stating that a number of painters in town were paying no business tax.

The mayor said that council was not in a position to review the matter at this late stage, after the petitioner had pleaded that he could not remember having received a preliminary notice of the tax.

Verbal Reports There were no committee reports submitted to council. The deputy-revee stated verbally that it was hoped to start oiling almost immediately, and Councillor Jones said he had a complaint concerning some dumping that was taking place at the south end of the town. It was decided to refer the matter to the police.

Councillor Tucker stated that garbage was not being collected on the proper days. Councillor Davis, chairman of the sanitation committee, said he would look into the matter.

Mayor Rose said the town parking lot was in a serious mess. The deputy-revee said they had been out of gravel but some should be available in the next few days.

Dogs Running Loose A lengthy discussion took place on the subject of dogs on the loose, with the mayor asking if they were any nearer this year in keeping dogs off other people's property than they were five years ago. There was a by-law for the control of dogs, but what about its enforcement, the mayor asked?

Councillor Jones thought that offenders should receive a warning and if that were not heeded the fine under the by-law should be imposed, amounting to $1.

The mayor suggested an amendment to the by-law, increasing the fine to $5. He instanced the case of a dog belonging to a well-known citizen residing on Wellington street which ran loose during the whole of last summer.

RECREATION COMMISSION

Machell's Ave. Playground Unsafe Spot For Children: Banner Report Under Fire

A regular meeting of the Recreation commission was held in the old town hall on Thursday night, May 15. There were present Don Glass, chairman, Councillors Corbett and Murray, Rev. G. H. Purchase, W. Allen, Les. Steadman and W. Harvey Bell, secretary-treasurer. Delayed by earlier engagements, J. E. Buchanan and J. Offord attended in the later part of the proceedings.

After the adoption of minutes and reports, various program matters were considered and discussed. Councillor Corbett gave a detailed verbal report on visits that the recreation director and himself had made to the various playgrounds. While Mr. Perryman was unable to be with them that night, Mr. Corbett said it was the opinion of the recreation director that the playground at Machell's Avenue was not safe for little children because of the bridge they had to cross over the creek.

Councillor Murray and Mr. Les Steadman suggested alternative sites and the matter was left over for further consideration. Need for a Mower Mr. Corbett said that if the playgrounds were to be kept in order it would be necessary for the commission to buy a lawn mower.

The chairman said that the parks were town property and the town had a mower. In these circumstances, said Mr. Glass, it did not appear that there was any need to buy another mower. Councillor Corbett said that while that was quite true, the difficulty appeared to be in getting the use of the mower. They would get it, but would they get it? And while they waited the grass grew longer.

Mr. Glass said he felt sure that arrangements could be made for the use of a town lawn mower on town property, and the matter was left over to see what could be done. Mr. Corbett had words of commendation for the Parks board,

The mayor said he was in agreement with Councillor Jones' suggestion of first giving a warning, and if that were not heeded then a fine should be imposed in the case of a dog being allowed to become a nuisance to neighbors. Councillor Tucker said it was a shame that while 90 percent of the citizens looked after their dogs and observed the by-law, the remaining 10 percent were responsible for causing the nuisances.

Council agreed on the enforcement of the by-law to rid the town of the nuisance of dogs running loose. Sewage And Water In a comprehensive survey, supported by maps and many figures, the consulting engineer dealt with the problems of sewers and an increased water supply for the town. The whole picture will have to be studied in detail by committees and reports submitted to council, in which circumstances no useful purpose would be served by publishing figures, many of which were of a tentative character.

It is proposed to effect drainage in connection with houses on Hillview Road, formerly Lepper street. The work contemplated on Tyler and Hillview road would come under local improvements and other work under general improvements. Wellington street east would be included in the scheme. The estimated cost of the undertaking including trunk sewers would be around the figure of $7,500.

HOW WE SHALL VOTE AND WHY

On Tuesday, May 27, eligible voters will go to the polls to decide whether there are to be a brewers' warehouse and a liquor store installed in Aurora. If we are alive and well we shall be one of those who will cast a "No" vote on both questions, and in this article we propose to give our reasons why.

It is far from our wish to ram our opinions down anybody's throat. Each citizen with a vote is freely entitled to use it as he pleases, according to his or her best judgment. We use the word "judgment" advisedly, for that is certainly what is needed in a matter that will have reactions on this town for years to come.

There are two reasons why we are expressing our views. The first is that we think it is a duty on the part of a newspaper to tell its readers where it stands on questions of paramount local importance. We feel we should state what motives and reasons have brought us to the decision to vote "No" on both questions.

Our second reason is a purely sentimental one. We have known Aurora for a few years and have lived here for over two of them. Aurora has always impressed us as a lovely old town, quiet, peaceful and friendly. A town of character, with families of old standing, containing many beautiful homes. It has a historic pedigree and those who do not value pedigree are lacking in a sense of understanding.

Aurora is a fine old town with an almost crime-free record. We could not vote for a change that could alter all that. We dare not cast a vote that might damage the town by changing its historic character.

Such are the sentimental reasons why we shall vote "No" on Tuesday, May 27. There are other and even stronger reasons. One of them is that the demand for liquor and beer stores came from a small group of originators. The citizens of Aurora did not demand outlets. The small group of originators presumably were so alarmed at their action that they wouldn't allow their names to be attached to the advertisement which this paper refused but the Banner accepted.

We refused the advertisement because we thought that those who proposed so revolutionary a change in the life of Aurora should at least have the courage of their convictions and give their names. A number of names have subsequently been made public. Some of these sponsors are, like ourselves, comparative newcomers in Aurora.

But there is this fundamental difference between us: That while we are very happy to accept Aurora without liquor and beer outlets, some other comparative newcomers are not happy with Aurora. They wish to install a stockpile of liquor and beer bottles. Then, presumably, they would like Aurora as much as they like Bradford; although they seldom write the name, Bradford, they just put in some dots.

No one is sponsoring a campaign for prohibition. Facilities already exist for supplies of liquor and beer. We do think, however, that it would not be good for the youth of Aurora to be reared in easy familiarity with the doors of liquor and beer stores. We do not believe that Aurora needs to model its way of life on some other town. We think that Aurora of today is an excellent town in which to live and bring up a family.

It is claimed that outlets in Aurora would increase business. We agree that outlets would increase the sales of liquor and beer. But would the merchants benefit? Why should they? For the people who would pay cash at the outlets could not spend that money at the stores. It is logical that the credit business of the merchants would increase and their cash returns decrease. Would that be good for the merchants?

It is very significant that the older business men of the town have not come out in favor of the outlets, while some of them are openly against them. It is a delicate undertaking for any business man to enter into controversial subjects since he caters for clients of varying opinions. So that we cannot know how large is the proportion of the older business men who are opposed to the outlets.

Mr. John Bowser, Sr., has recently put his name to the list of supporters of the outlets, and that is quite in order since he was one of the chief originators of the campaign for the outlets. Mr. L. Rubin, a comparative business newcomer to Aurora, is another supporter of the outlets. And so are a few newcomers to the factories; Mr. Child and Mr. Seston are on the list. The general manager of Sisman's and president of the Board of Trade, Mr. Ross Linton, is opposed to the outlets.

Sponsors of the outlets point to Bradford as a magnet that lures Aurora people to go there and buy merchandise; and while they are there some of them drink too much and become a menace on the way home! That's what they say. What an argument to put forward to support outlets! Since when has this old and prosperous town of Aurora fallen so low in its wisdom that it should take guidance from a group of comparative newcomers with an urge to change its way of life?

No, no! We like Aurora as it is and shall be happy to vote "No" on Tuesday, May 27.

WHAT THEY ARE SAYING

Belief Is That Only Heavy Vote Can Defeat Outlets: Aurorian In South Africa

Old residents are saying that if there is a big vote on Tuesday, May 27, there will be no liquor and beer outlets in Aurora. They are also saying that if the vote is small the liquor and beer sponsors will win. Their reasons are that the majority of the citizens are well pleased to leave Aurora as it has been for the past 36 years; but that the newcomers will win if the vote is small.

The moral of all this is that everyone should get out and vote on Tuesday, May 27. Those who are sponsoring the outlets will vote solid. They rented a room at the municipal offices to work and plan, and, as the saying is, "leave no stone unturned" to get liquor and beer outlets here.

Every citizen with a vote should make it his and her solemn duty to get out and vote early on Tuesday, May 27, and preserve Aurora's established way of life. Your chance to vote will last for a few hours only. Your vote will influence the destiny of Aurora for years to come.

Opinions That Count None are in a better position to speak on this liquor and beer question than medical men. At the Board of Trade meeting on March 27 there were two addresses given by two medical men, one of whom is the mayor of the town.

Dr. Urquhart emphasized the question of family life in Aurora. He said that he "had found Aurora a good place in which to live and raise a family of three boys. He wanted to keep it that way."

Dr. Urquhart also said that during his residence of 17 years here "he had seen the town enjoy great developments". He expressed himself as being unalterably opposed to liquor and beer outlets.

The Mayor, Dr. Crawford Ross, said he was "in complete agreement with all that Dr. Urquhart had said in his opposition to the creation of liquor and beer outlets in Aurora". He added that "he had great faith in the future of their town and would oppose the outlets as mayor and as a medical man".

A speech of a devastating character, in which the "motives" of some at least of the sponsors for the outlets were questioned, was made by the Rector of Trinity Anglican church, the Rev. K. D.

T. F. Swindle Comments On Rink Reports

Editor, Aurora News Page: Reports published in recent issues of the local press warrant comment.

Unjust criticism soon dies a natural death but warranted criticism is an important part of the normal function of a democratic way of life.

If a citizen is dissatisfied with the way public business is conducted, he has a democratic right to say so. Unfortunately some people seem to resent any intimation that their way of doing things is not the best.

This writer has been active in community organizations since a boy in public school and experience has taught him that no democratic organization can function properly unless all the members have a proper opportunity to express their views on matters to be dealt with and are organized so that each member has an opportunity to share in the work and responsibility of the organization concerned.

Failure to meet these requirements by the head of the organization soon develops a lack of interest among the members, and the accomplishments of the group is always less than it should be.

The records of the Aurora Memorial Arena Commission will show that the usual recognized regular procedure was not followed, such as not sufficient regular meetings to keep the members in proper touch with the work; no proper opportunity for each member to express his views on any matter before the meeting; no adequate organization of the work to give each member a share of the work and responsibility.

Meetings were held at such irregular and infrequent intervals that the members could not keep properly informed of activities. Because of infrequent meetings the executive at times made decisions involving considerable expenditure, that rightfully should have been made by the members.

The Case Against Outlets Is Stated By Leaders In Close Touch With Affairs

In a newspaper interview Dr. Crawford Rose, Mayor of Aurora, said: "Medical men know more about homes and conditions than anyone else and we can tell before we enter many homes, by whether there is a pile of liquor bottles at the back door, if the children will be well fed, well clothed or properly cared for."

"As mayor and a medical doctor I am flatly opposed to opening a brewers' warehouse or an outlet for liquor in our town. We know the evils of liquor, why ignore them?"

In a newspaper interview, Dr. J. L. Urquhart, who has practised in Aurora for 17 years, said: "I'll fight this thing and oppose it in every way I can," adding that he "did not wish to see the progress he had witnessed in 17 years a forfeit to liquor."

Board of Trade
Pronounced opposition to the liquor and beer outlets in Aurora was heard from a number of speakers at the Aurora Board of Trade meeting on March 27. The Rev. Dr. Mulligan and the Rev. H. J. Howey both said that Aurora would be taking a backward step if the outlets were established in town.

The rector of Trinity Anglican church, the Rev. K. D. Whatmough, in a speech that made a deep impression on his listeners, and was the subject of favorable comment in Aurora for days afterwards, made an attempt to explore the motives of the sponsors of the outlets and condemned the anonymity which enshrouded them.

What Motives?
"What are the motives behind the sponsorship of the liquor and beer outlets?" Mr. Whatmough

Mayor, Prominent Citizens Urge 'NO' Vote May 27

To the People of Aurora:
The question before the electors is not one of approval or disapproval of alcoholic beverages; the question is, are we or are we not in favor of outlets for their sale being established in Aurora?

The thinnest, weakest arguments are being used by those in favor of such outlets — that trade will be stimulated, that business will be better, that prosperity will come to Main Street. Ladies and gentlemen, the records show that prosperity is already on Main Street. The taking of hundreds of thousands of cash dollars out of town can only mean less for the other people here, whether they be in business, trade or profession.

Think clearly for yourselves, and when you think, vote. A double no vote will help to keep Aurora as it is today—a healthy, prosperous town in which we all take pride.

Dr. Crawford Rose, Mayor.

Dear Mr. Editor: After considerable thought and consideration, I have decided that it is not in the best interests of the town of Aurora to have liquor and beer outlets within the town.

My reasons for this decision are briefly: (1) I firmly believe that statistics will prove that the more outlets available, the more alcoholic beverages consumed. I do not believe that any circumstances which will further the use of liquor or beer is a desirable condition.

(2) I do not agree with those who say that having liquor and beer outlets will be an asset to business in general in town. I greatly fear that just the reverse might well prove to be the case.

In closing I should like to point out that I hold no personal ill-feeling or animosity towards any persons on the opposing side. I urge all citizens to face the issue squarely; i.e., that it is not a temperance issue, but clearly a matter as to whether it is desirable to have liquor and beer outlets in Aurora, based on an economic and moral point of view.

I further urge that this campaign be set at a high level, free from unnecessary mud-slinging and false accusations, and that we all pledge ourselves to humbly and gracefully accept the will of the majority, ever striving to make our town a better place in which to live, to work, to do business and to raise our families.

Yours truly,
Don Glass.

Dear Mr. Editor: The issue that is to be decided in Aurora next Tuesday is one that will have far-reaching effects on the young men and women, the boys and girls of Aurora and this whole district. In the confusion of economic and social arguments, pro and con, we may be inclined to lose sight of this point and to make the mistake of exchanging pure gold for dross. In other words, I believe that the human values in this campaign far outweigh all other considerations, including the dollar signs.

Anyone who reads the daily papers with an open mind has all the evidence required that the increasing number of liquor outlets in Ontario is having a serious effect on the lives of young people and children. No hand-picked testimonials or paid advertisements can outweigh the unbiased evidence of our courts, social workers, etc., on this point: the records prove beyond any doubt that the children and the homes pay the piper whenever and wherever the liquor industry calls the tune. This is not sentiment or hearsay — no less an authority than Judge H. S. Mott, of the Toronto Court, had this to say in the Family Court Report of 1948:

"The causes of neglect at the present time are many. The temperate use of liquor is, however, an imminent one. In those cases involving families which come before the court it is safe to say that liquor is a major difficulty in at least 75 percent of the number, and I think this should be drawn to the attention of all who may be interested. It is not my duty to suggest remedies, but it is my duty to bring to the attention of the public generally, conditions as they exist. In case after case, either the mother or father, or very often both, become habitual drunkards, with the result that I have frequently seen children disgusted with and fearful of their parents. They are often afraid to return home."

The town of Aurora has 400 children in its public school, 400 young people in the district high school, and 250 boys attending St. Andrew's College. Are we going to expose them as a tar-

THE WEEK-END TOLL

In the Toronto Evening Telegram of Monday, May 19th, appeared the following under the heading of "Liquor Embroils 110".

"Toronto police report an average weekend - 142 arrests, 110 for liquor infractions.

Do you want weekends like this in Aurora? Mark an X opposite the NO on your ballots next Tuesday!

get to the heavy guns of the liquor industry? Before voting Tuesday, will you ask yourself these two questions:

(1) Could the opening of liquor outlets in Aurora help in any way to produce better Canadian citizens of our girls and boys?

(2) Can those who favor liquor outlets in Aurora bring forth one constructive suggestion for the happiness of our children and the welfare of our homes?

I believe that a conscientious answer to those questions will be a no vote.

Yours sincerely,
J. B. Bastedo,
Manager of the Vote No Campaign.

Dear Mr. Editor: As one who is interested in education, I am firmly convinced that the establishment of a liquor store or a brewers' warehouse, or both, in Aurora would be a very serious handicap to the education and general welfare of our young people. Statistics have shown that, each year, more money is spent on liquor in Ontario than on education (public, high and university) in the whole of Canada.

Money spent on liquor cannot be spent on education; consequently, there would be fewer students who would have the advantage of higher education. For many years the towns of North York have been noted for the large percentage of pupils who go from high school to university.

To insure these privileges to our young people, and for many other reasons, I am voting "No" to both questions on May 27.

J. H. Knowles,
Principal, Aurora High School.

Dear Mr. Editor: We, the superintendents of the Sunday schools of Aurora, urge all parents of children and of minors to vote "no" on May 27. In making this request we are speaking for over 50 Sunday school teachers in the six schools of Aurora, with an enrolment of over 500 pupils. We dare to speak also for the many children under three years of age on our cradle rolls.

How many among those who plan to vote "yes" are helping to train children in any of the Sunday schools, public schools or high school? The homes and the schools should co-operate in this common task.

Please think again. What good will more outlets for the sale of alcohol do children or the homes where children live? We urge all fathers and mothers and all charged with training of youth to vote "no" on May 27.

Mr. John Offord, Anglican S. S.; Mr. J. McGhee, Baptist S. S.; Mr. Ed. Aylett, Gospel Church S. S.; Mr. Wyatt Baldwin, Presbyterian S. S.; Mrs. R. Morgan, Salvation Army S. S.; Mr. E. H. Clarke, United Church S. S.

Dear Mr. Editor: Through your paper, may I say to my fellow citizens, help keep Au-

AURORA TENNIS CLUB

The Aurora Tennis Club held an organization meeting on April 1 at which the following were elected to office:

Hon. pres., Mr. R. Smith, Mr. W. Adams, Dr. C. R. Boulding, pres., Mrs. M. Gerrow; vice-pres., Mrs. G. Grant; sec., Miss J. Adams; treas., Miss M. Adams; prop. manager, Mrs. C. Vella; social, Miss B. Boulding; advertising, Miss J. Rowatt and W. MacGirr.

The courts are being put into condition and will open on Saturday, May 24. A good season has been planned for the summer with many tournaments. Mr. Keith Davis will give free lessons every Monday evening at 6.30 for beginners and at 7.30 for more advanced players.

Fees will be $2.00 for junior, $3.00 for students, $8.00 for seniors and $12 for two seniors in a family. Used racquets are needed by the club and anyone wishing to donate one please phone Bill MacGirr Jr. 293w or leave at 76 Mosley St.

Anyone interested please join now and help the club to make a successful season. Memberships may be obtained from anyone on the committee.

For our own sake but especially for the sake of our children and our children's children.

We have many advantages here; our heritage is great. Earlier citizens saw the hardships caused by the use of alcohol, and voted it out of the town. Out of respect to these pioneers and to give a helping hand to the present generation, vote no on May 27.

One of our outstanding citizens reminded us recently: "The more snares, the more hares."

Do you want to help set a snare for any Aurora boy or girl? Some people claim to see a financial gain for the town in the opening up of new liquor outlets. Any thoughtful person knows that a dollar can be spent or invested only once. No one can spend his pay cheque for beer or liquor and also with it purchase food, homes and home comforts. Let us help our young people to own and enjoy happy homes. These young people are our greatest wealth.

When you vote, let your God and your conscience be your guide.

For transportation phone 9. Reeve Ace Cook.

Needlecraft News
 by Pauline Roy

FROM ALL SIDES women are told about the latest fashion trends from Paris and from Fifth Avenue. We are told how low the hemlines should be, how square or natural the shoulders, as well as which colors are being worn this season. There is no doubt that fashion with her whims and fancies adds a note of excitement to our lives. But for most of us who lead busy lives attending to family, homes or jobs, fashion is something that is achieved a little at a time. For us, being well-dressed means being suitably, becomingly and very important, inexpensively dressed.

New Knitwear Styles
 Though Dame Fashion deviates from style to style, from year to year, season in and season out, knitted fashions remain 'way-at-the-top-of-the-list'. Knitwear for babies, growing children, teen-agers and adults are forever popular favorites. Sweaters are found on slender and plump people alike... worn afternoons and evenings... for the business world, sports world and on the campus. They are popular because they are good looking, comfortable and practical. Have you seen how fashion-wise the new knitted suits and dresses look? They have returned to the fashion limelight this year in interesting styles. Once upon a time all knitted suits had straight, narrow skirts. Now they are being shown with full, as well as with straight skirts. These knitted garments are so very comfortable to wear that you'll just want to live in them all the time. They never wrinkle or rumple, and are right for all occasions. Most important of all is the fact that you can make them yourself.

Music Hath Charm

Here's a fresh, new design for a little girl's pinafore dress with knitted pullover. It is made from light green crocheted-knitting wool and trimmed with a dainty red crocheted edging. The ribbed waistline is fitted and held in place with elastic. Lightweight, comfortable 3 ply wool is used for the pullover. Directions for knitting the dress and pullover are available in sizes 8, 10 and 12 years if you send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Needlework Department of this paper requesting LITTLE GIRL'S PINAFORE DRESS, Leaflet No. CW-35.

BLOSSOM TEA ATTRACTS MANY

On Thursday, May 8, the majority of the distaff population of Newmarket gathered at the Christian Baptist church Sunday school room for the annual Blossom tea. Held under the auspices of the Junior Ladies' Aid, the successful afternoon tea was a very pleasant affair for the many in attendance. Receiving were Mrs. Robert Dick and Mrs. Fred Breckon.

There was a sale of home baking, candy, aprons and fancy work. The small tea tables were centred with spring flowers and the entire room was decorated with blossoms made by the members. Behind the quaint fence which edged the platform were two baskets of mixed flowers and flowers decorated the curtains and posts.

HORT. SOC. PLANS TRIP TO FALLS

A bus trip to Niagara Falls is being arranged for Sunday, June 1, under the auspices of the Newmarket Horticultural society. The trip would leave Newmarket at 10 a.m., returning in the evening, and would include sight seeing at the Falls and a visit to the Parks' school for horticulturalists and nurserymen at Niagara Falls.

Those interested in going are requested to contact the society's president, Bill Fish, 1407, for further particulars. The trip will be possible only if approximately 30 to 40 wish to attend.

SHOW HOW FILMS USED IN SCHOOLS

Are you interested in how movies are used in the schools, how they give additional instruction to the pupils? At the annual meeting of the Newmarket Home and School association on Tuesday, May 27, 8 p.m., such a demonstration will be presented.

H. A. Jackson, supervising principal of the Newmarket public schools, will present a film and outline how it is used in the classroom. The film will be one of interest to adults.

The election and installation of officers will be held. Mrs. Mildred Toogood, Unionville, area vice-president of the York Home and School council, will conduct the installation ceremony. A cordial invitation is extended to the public.

TO REPEAT RECITAL OF DANCING CLASS

By popular request, the recent dance recital presented by Mrs. Charles Gordon's dancing class will be repeated on Saturday, May 31, 8 p.m. It will be held in the Newmarket town hall and tickets are available from the pupils of the class.

The show drew much favorable comment when presented earlier. It packed the hall for two performances. The program of over 16 items consists of ballet, tap dancing and physical fitness demonstrations. There are about 90 dancers in the recital, all of whom are Newmarket girls.

EUCHRE IN AID OF SCOUT CAMP

A euchre was held for the Boy Scout camp by Mrs. Reginald Hutchins at her home on Friday, May 16. The sum of $12.35 was raised at the card party.

Prize winners included: ladies' first, Mrs. A. Baley, second, Mrs. M. Tunstead; men's first, Mrs. George McComb, second, Mrs. Joseph Brammer; ladies' lone hand, Mrs. S. Heaney; men's lone hand, William Simmerson; ladies' consolation, Mrs. L. Tunney, and men's lone, Mrs. Wes. Longhurst.

At the close of the evening, refreshments were served by hostess, assisted by Mrs. Simmerson, Mrs. Heaney and Mrs. Jack McArthur.

CLEAR "WASTE" AWAY AND SAVE THE DAY when you're feeling SLUGGISH

Get rid of body wastes and see how quickly "loggy" feelings due to poor elimination give way to sparkling pep and zest! These energy-robbing wastes accumulate not only from sluggishness of the alimentary canal, where your food digests—but also as a result of lazy kidney action. Millions of people all over the world have found Kruschen Salts to be a useful corrective, for such troubles. Why? Because Kruschen is both laxative and diuretic—it promotes healthy action in bowels and kidneys. Gently but thoroughly. Just a little Kruschen with your morning beverage when needed helps you keep thoroughly clean inside... "on top of the ball" all day, every day!

W.M.S. MEETING SEES STUDY BOOK SLIDES

Slides based on the study book "From Lakes to Northern Lights" were shown at the May meeting of the Evangeline auxiliary, W.M.S., Trinity United church. Mrs. H. Walker read the script.

Mrs. W. E. Walton presided over the meeting and the call to worship was read by Mrs. John Rutledge. Miss L. Thomas led in prayer and read an appropriate poem after Mrs. Rutledge had opened the devotional period with the hymn, "The Church's One Foundation". Mrs. F. Hodge read the 6th Psalm and Norman Hurdle played Mendelssohn's "Song Without Words".

The slides showed the work of the United church from the Atlantic to the Pacific in the home missions. The church maintains schools, homes for the aged, hospitals as well as churches on the frontiers of our vast Dominion. One of the great tasks is to facilitate the immigrants entering our shores.

Contents of the bale were on display. The business was dispensed and the meeting closed with refreshments and a social half-hour.

Jersey Breeders Plan For May 24 Parish Show

The Jersey breeders of York county are busy preparing for their ninth "Parish Show", sponsored by the county club in conjunction with the Richmond Hill spring show at Richmond Hill on Saturday, May 24. Judging by entries already received, secretary W. M. Cockburn of Newmarket expects there will be close to one hundred head of cattle paraded before the judge, Prof. M. W. Staples of the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph. The cattle will be stabled in the arena where they can be shown in case of rain but weather has always permitted showing on the lawn where bleachers add greatly to the comfort and enjoyment of the day.

York Jrs. Judging Contest Set May 31

The annual livestock judging competition, sponsored by the York County Junior Farmers' Association, will be held on the last Saturday of May when the young folks will visit a number of farms in the central part of the county, to judge the various types of stock. This year, only eight classes will be judged instead of ten as in former years, there being only one class each in draft horses and sheep. The boys are asked to register at the agricultural representative's office at Newmarket at 8:30 a.m., d.s.t., and they will return there to give reasons on their judging in the afternoon.

On the same day, the 4-H club girls, who have been carrying on their food, clothing and health projects, will have a display of their work in the Newmarket town hall. In the afternoon, the team members from the various clubs will be putting on demonstrations to which the public is invited. as far as the Banner is concerned. Which brings to mind the case of the Duke of Plaza Torra, in the famous Gilbert and Sullivan comedy. "When there was any fighting, he led his regiment from behind, did the Duke of Plaza Torra."

By the way, there now appears to be a French edition of the "home-town paper," for its front-page masthead last week read: "The Aurora Banner." A wag said the edition was for Kennedy street.

During our recent brief sickness we received from that master mirth-merchant, B. G. Whitelaw, a small volume called "Bed-time Stories for Convalescents," from which timely publication we take two selections, the first of which is entitled, "After Four Years in College."

Prof: (to senior): "Spell 'straight'."

Senior: "S-T-R-A-I-G-H-T."

Prof: "Correct, and what does it mean?"

Senior: "Without ginger ale." The second selection is entitled: "No Substitute Needed." "Someone asked the Kentucky Colonel if there was any other cure for a snake bite except whiskey?" To which the Colonel replied: "Who the h--- cares whether there is or not?"

Back From South Africa

Mr. F. P. Moffat is home from his three weeks' visit to South Africa and we listened with great interest to some of his impressions of that wonderful but sorely troubled country. He is associated with a New York diamond firm and visited South Africa for business reasons.

He thinks the situation in that country very serious from the point of view of Britishers and Europeans generally, brought about by the bellicose mishandling of affairs by the present premier, Dr. Malan, who is openly anti-British. During his visit Mr. Moffat, as a veteran of the first war, joined the Torch Commandos, whose present numbers are 350,000. The Torch Commandos have been created to protect British interests, and in joining the movement he risked being expelled from the country.

During his stay he attended a symposium (known in Canada as a convention) where he met the multi-millionaire and diamond king, Sir Ernest Oppenheim, whom he found a very charming man. He lunched with Dr. Roland Young, whose father, Mr. George Young, resides on Maple street. Dr. Young is the head of a research laboratory and is a diamond expert. Among other social activities Mr. Moffat was

MY CLIENTS HAVE MADE MONEY

From time to time I write my clients about money-making opportunities in the stock market. Here are two examples of what I mean.

Had you received the letter I wrote about Silver Miller Mines and acted upon my advice, you would have bought 1,000 shares for $220.00—and you could sell out today on The Toronto Stock Exchange for more than $1,500.00. And in addition to this very nice tax-free profit, you would have received last year more in cash dividends than the 1,000 shares cost you originally.

Another letter I wrote was about Jupiter Oil shares. Had you received a copy, and again followed my advice, you would have sent me $180.00 for 1,000 shares—and you could sell out today on The Toronto Stock Exchange for more than $1,000.00. With the opportunities of these two stocks in mind, I believe I have another just as attractive. Neither Silver Miller or Jupiter Oil looked half as good when I first wrote about them.

Let Me Tell You About Baska Uranium Mines

If you missed the big money made last year in base metal shares, and you did not get in on the present booming oil market, don't miss the coming uranium boom. Because I am convinced that a lot of money is going to be made mining uranium, I am sponsoring a company with three properties in the heart of the biggest uranium development on this continent. The company has more than $100,000.00 in its treasury. If you would like to know why I believe Baska Uranium Mines shares are as good a buy at this early stage as Silver Miller and Jupiter were when I first recommended them, get in touch with me at once. Write me, phone, or use the coupon below and by return mail I will send you convincing information. I will also tell you what I think you ought to do. If you live in or near Toronto, come in and see me.

"... saved me days, perhaps weeks, of work"

After returning from his first trip to the West, a business man wrote his bank: "I arrived having no idea where to start in to make the connections I required. The thought occurred to me that perhaps the bank, which has been very helpful to me on numerous occasions, would give me some guidance. Mr. W. proved to be of tremendous help. He introduced me to the people I should have met and saved me days, perhaps weeks, of work."

Every chartered bank works this way. Whether you walk into your neighborhood branch or one a thousand miles away, you will find the same full range of banking service—and the same readiness to help.

an appeal to All citizens

TO KEEP MAY 24th WEEK-END FREE OF ACCIDENTS

Holiday week-ends bring unusual traffic hazards to Ontario. More drivers and pedestrians use the streets and highways. More miles are travelled. More time is spent out of doors, and thousands of children are released from school. All these factors swell the normal traffic volume and increase the danger of accidents.

I earnestly urge all citizens, and all leaders in community and municipal life, to encourage widespread awareness of the need for safer driving and safer walking.

The traffic accident record can be kept down—if each of us does his part.

The Department of Highways is conducting a planned attack on accidents. Let us all work together to keep the approaching holiday period free of accidents.

GROWING PULLETS

Many poultrymen right now are asking two questions:

1. Why should I feed a balanced ration to my growing pullets?

Some farmers have been known to raise pullets on just pasture and grain - they felt that they were successful. The truth is that pullets that are raised that way will not lay as many eggs during the following year, NOR WILL THEY BE PRODUCING LARGE EGGS AS EARLY AS BALANCED FED PULLETS.

2. Why should I feed SHUR-GAIN?

Last year, from summer until on in the fall, Grade A large eggs were worth upwards of 70 cents a dozen. Towards November egg prices took a down turn and by Christmas farmers were getting about half the price for eggs that they had been receiving at Thanksgiving. - A mighty good reason to feed pullets for EARLY PRODUCTION - to feed a BALANCED RATION.

Consider these facts and you have the answer. - SHUR-GAIN Feeds are fully tested UNDER CANADIAN CONDITIONS on the SHUR-GAIN Demonstration Farm.

- SHUR-GAIN Feeds are manufactured locally and sold by the manufacturer direct to the consumer eliminating a middleman profit.

OAK RIDGES Children's Hobbies Judged

The success of a hobby exhibit can be determined by the quality of work, variety of tastes, and the lasting pleasure derived from spending time on worthwhile things one likes to do. For these and other reasons, about 25 children of Oak Ridges school deserve credit, for according to Captain E. C. Hawman, one of the judges, the exhibit and competition was worthy of a greater number of parents than turned out to see the children's work.

The display was a credit to the school and the teachers and should be continued. Prizes were donated by individuals and the Lions club. The first 12 received special awards according to merit. All the rest were given consolation gifts and each hobby class member received Lions ball point pens. When David Harrison won first place with his model ship, he had a choice of $3 from C. M. Marshall, aviator, or a ride in Mr. Marshall's plane. David chose the cash.

Donnie Ash placed second with lawn ornaments, Keith Stephens third for model plane, Ross Gunn fourth for model racing car, John Gallicchio sixth for jet planes, Marie Pilope seventh for fancy work, Ed. Pilope eighth for moose plaque, Keith Barnsdale ninth with shell flower work, Carolyn Woods tenth, Michael Troyer eleventh and Jacqueline Miller twelfth.

Prize winning models are on display in Capt. E. C. Hawman's store window.

Find Builder's 'Shingle'

"This flooring was put down by Walter Ness, March 19, 1882" are the words inscribed by lead pencil on a hand-split pine shingle discovered by Mr. Lyall Baker, at his farm home "King Elm", 3rd concession. He found it concealed beneath the flooring while excavating for a cellar under the hand-hewn log dwelling built in the 1830's by Thomas Wood, a Scottish pioneer. The shingle, in good preservation, had been placed there by 13-year-old Walter Ness, grandnephew of Mr. Wood (formerly a Tranch) who had apparently rebuilt the flooring to cover over what was once a stone fire place.

When Mr. Baker started to dig the cellar, he wondered why large stones, blackened with smoke, were tumbling about as the earth was removed. He thought there must have been a fire at some time, but later found the remains of the base of the fireplace, that was the only means of heating a house in early days. This pioneer building has been plank-sided for so long that no one recalls it otherwise. Mr. Baker inscribed it of late to make it warm and would like to be able to restore it to its original state.

The logs (likely cut from the crown land forest) are put in place by wooden pegs and the plank siding is fastened on with square nails. There are only four logs to a side of the house, and they are more than a foot in thickness. The woodwork in

Rev. Mr. Jenkinson and his wife were not present as Mrs. Jenkinson had just come from hospital that day. A special card was signed by all present, wishing Mrs. Jenkinson a speedy recovery.
